US Life Guarantees¹

Annual Reset Interest Crediting	Interest is linked to a portion of the return on the S&P 500 [®] index, without dividends. ² On each contract anniversary, we will compare the current index value to the index value on the previous anniversary. If the index has increased over the previous contract anniversary, the value of the index credit is equal to 100% of the gain, up to the amount of the interest rate cap. The amount of the index credit is then compared to the fixed interest rate declared at the time your contract is issued. The company will credit your contract with interest equal to the higher of these two values: either (i) the percentage change in the index number subject to the applicable interest rate cap, or (ii) the fixed interest rate as described above. Even if the index is flat or has declined from the previous contract anniversary, your annuity will not lose value and will always earn at least the fixed interest rate specified in your contract every year.
Interest Rate Cap	The interest rate cap places a maximum limit on the amount of index growth credited to the contract each year regardless of the performance of the index. The interest rate cap is guaranteed for the first year in the term and is then declared annually. The cap is guaranteed to never be set lower than the minimum cap rates set forth in the contract. See your licensed representative for the current interest rate cap.
Free Look Guarantee	US Life allows a 20-day free-look period.
Guaranteed Interest Crediting	US Life guarantees that you can return the annuity and never receive less than 100% of your single premium (payment) accumulated at the fixed interest rate (set on the day your contract is issued), less any prior withdrawals and related early withdrawal charges.
Optional Return-of-Premium Guarantee Rider	You may elect the optional return-of-premium guarantee rider. This provides that the annuity may be returned at any time for an amount equal to the single premium paid, less any prior withdrawals, or the annuity value less any early withdrawal charges, whichever value is greater. Adding this feature may result in a slightly lower interest rate cap than a contract without the feature would receive.

Taxes, Tax Advantages & Tax-Free Transfers

Tax Deferral	Federal income taxes are deferred until the year interest is withdrawn. (There is no tax deferral if the owner is a corporation.)
Tax-Advantaged Income	Once the contract is annuitized, part of each annuity income payment is considered a tax-free return of principal (except tax-qualified annuities, such as traditional IRAs, where the principal may also be taxable).
Tax on Withdrawals	Withdrawals are subject to taxation as ordinary income. In addition, withdrawals of interest (or any amount from tax-qualified accounts, such as traditional IRAs, where the principal may also be taxable) prior to age 59½ may be subject to a 10% federal early withdrawal penalty. The penalty may be waived for death, total disability (as defined by IRS code), or if the payment is made as part of a series of substantially equal payments for life.
Tax-Free Exchange	May be used for exchanges from a life insurance or endowment contract or other annuity. To maintain tax-deferred status, the owner and annuitant must remain the same.
Tax-Qualified Plans	Transfer or directly roll over funds from IRAs, SEPs, Keoghs or 401(k)s.

After the date of death, a declared rate of interest will be credited daily to the death benefit until the death benefit is paid.
Spousal Beneficiaries	Spouse of a deceased owner may elect to receive a distribution or become the new "owner," if the spouse is the sole primary beneficiary.
Non-Spousal Beneficiaries	Upon the death of any owner, the beneficiary may receive either annuity income beginning within one year or a total distribution within five years of death.

Activities of Daily Living	After the first contract year, early withdrawal charges will be waived if the owner cannot perform two or more of the six defined activities of daily living (bathing, continence, dressing, eating, toileting and transferring) for at least 90 consecutive days. Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. They are long-term insurance products with guarantees backed by the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company. They provide the potential for interest to be credited based in part on the performance of the specified index, without the risk of loss of premium due to market downturns or fluctuations. Index annuities may not be suitable or appropriate for all individuals.

Tax-qualified contracts such as IRAs, 401(k)s, etc., are tax deferred regardless of whether or not they are funded with an annuity. If you are considering funding a tax-qualified retirement plan with an annuity, you should know that an annuity does not provide any additional tax-deferred treatment of earnings beyond the treatment by the tax-qualified retirement plan itself. However, annuities do provide other features and benefits such as income options.
